Brazil Coffee Weather

Limited Rain, Mild To Warm Through Weekend

By Drew Lerner

Kansas City, August 4 (World Weather, Inc.) – Random showers of limited significance will occur from Espírito Santo and extreme eastern Minas Gerais to eastern Bahia over the coming week. Some light rain will also be possible during the middle to latter part of next week from Parana to Sul de Minas, but resulting rainfall is not likely be enough to cause flowering. Temperatures will continue mild to warm through August 14.

BRAZIL

Rain was confined to a few areas from central Minas Gerais to Espírito Santo, northern Rio de Janeiro and southeastern Bahia Wednesday. Amounts through 0100 CDT (0600 GMT) today were no more than 9 millimeters with the greatest amounts along the coast if Espírito Santo. Dry weather occurred elsewhere and temperatures were mild to warm.

Afternoon high temperatures Wednesday varied from the upper teens and lower 20s from Rio de Janeiro to eastern Sao Paulo while in the middle and upper 20s in most other areas. Extreme highs to 31 occurred in far northern Sao Paulo and to the range of 30 to 34 from northern Minas Gerais to central Bahia.

No significant change to the ten day outlook for Brazil's coffee areas occurred overnight. Mostly dry conditions will prevail through Monday except for a few coastal showers. Rain from Tuesday through Friday of next week will be associated with a weak trough of low pressure that will drift through some of the production area. Daily rainfall will vary from 1 to 9 millimeters with local totals to 15 from northern Parana to Sul de Minas, but no significant flowering is expected because of the rainfall. In the meantime, daily rainfall associated with coastal showers from Espírito Santo to eastern Bahia over the next several days will be less than 15 millimeters with a couple of exceptions possible along the Bahia coast.

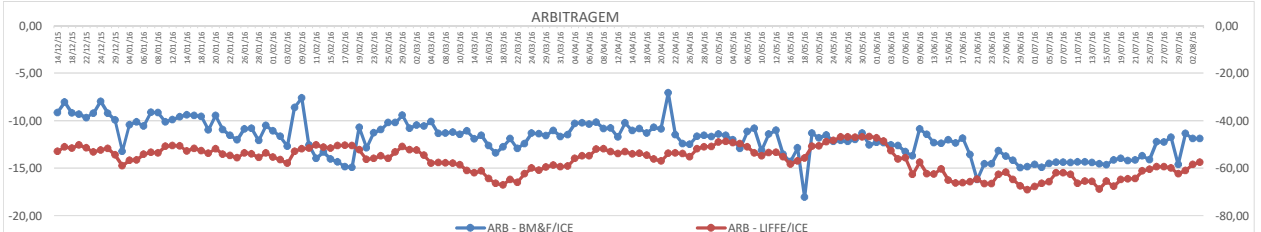

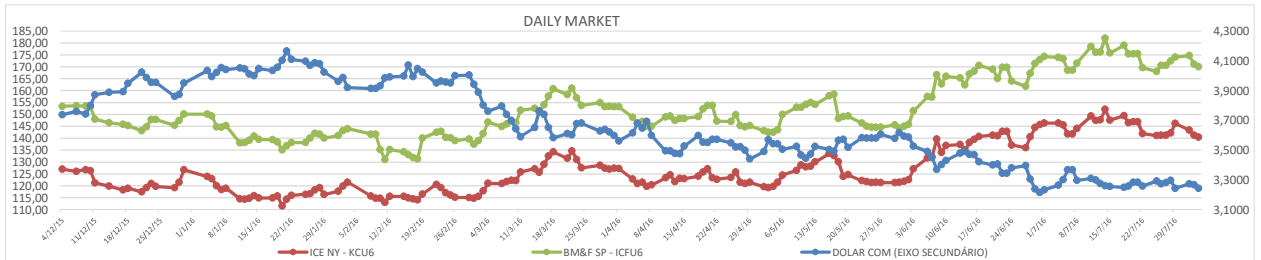

Daily high temperatures through August 14 will be in the 20s Celsius most often with a few upper teens in southeastern most portions of the production region, especially Rio de Janeiro to eastern Sao Paulo. In contrast, a few daily extreme highs of 30 to 34 will occur from northern Minas Gerais to central Bahia. Lowest morning temperatures will mostly be in the upper single digits and teens with a few readings around 20 in the far north.
