COFFEE

General Comments: Futures were lower on Friday and lower for the week in both New York and London. New York failed once again to turn trends up, but prices still held the recent trading range. Weekly chart trends are sideways in London. Brazil should be getting past the gut slot of its harvest, and the strong export pace from the country should start to turn down. Brazil had a big production year for the current crop, but the next crop should be less as it is the off year for production. Ideas are that the current production of 62 or 63 or more million bags can become about 52 million bags next year. El Nino is fading, but remains in the forecast, and Coffee areas in Brazil could be affected by drought that could hurt production even more. Many areas are dry now, but showers are in the forecast for this week. Vietnam is active in its harvest. Selling will be less this week due to the Lunar New Year holiday. Production in Vietnam is estimated less than 30 million bags due to uneven weather during the growing season.

Overnight News: Certified stocks are higher today and are about 2.485 million bags. The ICO composite price is now 102.35 ct/lb. Brazil will get mostly dry weather. Temperatures should be above normal. Colombia should get isolated showers. Central America and southern Mexico should get showers or dry conditions. Vietnam will get mostly dry weather.

Chart Trends: Trends in New York are mixed. Support is at 103.00, 102.00, and 100.00 March, and resistance is at 107.00, 110.00 and 112.00 March. Trends in London are mixed. Support is at 1530, 1510, and 1500 March, and resistance is at 1590, 1610, and 1630 March.
