Coffee Market Report

The New York market plunged to new thirteen and half year lows yesterday, as bearish sentiment over the prospects of the start of the new Brazil crop over and above the prevailing surplus coffee supply seemingly encouraged speculative short selling pressure upon the market. This resulting in the value of the second month of the board falling by 15.3% for the year, from an already soft end to the previous year.

The decline in the market and ahead of an Easter long weekend for the majority of the mainstream consumer markets will most likely inspire the already complacent industry buyers to step back and to hold out for new lows, while many producers continue to show price resistance within their internal markets, to result in continued lacklustre physical market trade.

The London market shall be closed tomorrow and again on Monday, while the New York market shall be closed tomorrow and to trade solo and for a shortened trading day on Monday.

The July to July contracts arbitrage between the London and New York markets narrowed yesterday, to register this at 25.60 usc/Lb., while this equates to 28.56% price discount for the London Robusta coffee market.

The Certified washed Arabica coffee stocks held against the New York exchange were seen to decrease by 640 bags yesterday; to register these stocks at 2,479,336 bags. There was meanwhile no change to the number of bags ending grading for this exchange; to register these pending grading stocks at 7,897 bags.
