Coffee Market Report

Reports out of Brazil indicate that there have only been some scattered showers over the main coffee districts in South East Brazil, with the mostly dry conditions conducive for the new crop harvest. In this respect the new conilon robusta crop is accelerating in volume, with some arabica coffee farms in Zona da Mata and the lower lands within South Minas already starting to harvest. But with the majority of arabica coffee districts only expected to start harvesting in any volume, in the coming month.

The prospects of this overall smaller but still relatively large new crop from Brazil continues to weigh upon speculative sentiment within the coffee terminal markets, which continue to trade within a soft trading range. The Trade Ministry in Brazil has meanwhile reported that the countries coffee exports for the month of April were 735,355 bags or 37.73% higher than the same month last year, at a total of 2,684,380 bags.

The low reference prices of the coffee terminal markets are having their effect, in terms of internal market price resistance within Brazil. This has inspired the Brazil Ministry of Agriculture to say that they shall reassess the methodology used to set the governments minimum prices for coffee.

The National Coffee Institute in Costa Rica has reported that the countries coffee exports for the month of April were 38,520 bags or 22.09% lower than the same month last year, at a total of 135,864 bags. This they say has contributed to the country's coffee exports for the first seven months of the present October 2018 to September 2019 coffee year to be 12% lower than the same period in the previous coffee year, at a total of 557,843 bags.
