COFFEE

General Comments: Futures were higher in both New York and London. The US Dollar moved lower again yesterday and the Real was firm. The market will look to add to gains this week and could confirm an important low in prices if new moves higher can be sustained. The chart patterns remain positive for now. The Brazil harvest is moving along at a slow pace and producers are trying to store the crop due to the current low prices. Reports indicate that the yields are not real strong and that the quality of the crop is poor due to extreme weather seen early in the growing season. Vietnam is also reporting lower yields for the current crop as the weather was not good for flowering earlier in the year. There have been some hot and dry spells that have hurt yield and quality for these crops as well, but showers are reported in the Central Highlands now and ideas are that conditions and production potential have improved.

Overnight News: ICE certified stocks are slightly lower today at 2.387 million bags. The ICO daily average price is now 104.11 ct/lb. Brazil will get mostly dry conditions with near to above normal temperatures. Vietnam will see scattered showers and storms. ICE New York said that 95 notices were posted against July contracts and that total deliveries for the month are 543 contracts.

Chart Trends: Trends in New York are up with objectives of 110.00 and 122.00 September. Support is at 105.00, 102.00, and 101.00 September, and resistance is at 108.00, 110.00 and 113.00 September. Trends in London are up with objectives of 1480, 1530, and 1580 September. Support is at 1430, 1410, and 1380 September, and resistance is at 1470, 1490, and 1510 September.
